WHAT IS THE ART OF TAI CHI?

Tai Chi is a time-proven health art which uses circular, flowing movements to calm the mind and relax the body. Behind the gentle movements is a wealth of philosophy, medicine and science. Also known as meditation in motion, it is the perfect blend of relaxation and activity. Practising Tai Chi exercises the body holistically while quietening the mind.

Internally, the soft, smooth movements massage the organs, improve blood circulation and promote diaphragmatic breathing. Externally, the joints, tendons and muscles are loosened and gradually strengthened.

A stressed mind makes errors and interferes with the healthy functioning of the body. The fluid movements of Tai Chi have a calming effect on the nervous system which in turn helps to relieve stress in daily life.

A calmer nervous system will also assist in regulating the digestive system, strengthening the respiratory system, improving the cardio-vascular system and boosting the immune system. Tai Chi brings about a state of balance and tranquillity which allows the body-mind to heal naturally.

To simply observe people practising Tai Chi is a peaceful experience. They reflect a sense of serenity and well being. After a Tai Chi session, you always feel relaxed, refreshed and content.

WHAT IS HUN YUAN TAI CHI?

“Hun” means mixed and “Yuan” means circle, so together they encompass everything in the universe. This Tai Chi system specifically focuses on fostering a deep level of relaxation, cultivating energy to nurture oneself and developing natural freedom of movement in the joints.

The Hun Yuan Tai Chi system was developed by Grandmaster Feng Zhi Qiang (1928-2012), one of China's greatest martial arts experts. He has been featured on the front cover of several issues of the international American publication, T'ai Chi Magazine.

In Beijing, Grandmaster Feng had the unique opportunity to learn from two of the most well known and respected teachers of their time, Hu Yao Zhen (1879-1973) and Chen Fa Ke (1887-1957). Hu Yao Zhen was a famous traditional Chinese medical practitioner and an expert in Xin Yi Chuan (Heart Mind Boxing). Chen Fa Ke, 17th generation of Chen Style, was well known for his martial arts prowess. With this knowledge and insight, Grandmaster Feng was able to develop the Hun Yuan Tai Chi system which enables practitioners to achieve noticeable results quickly. Most of all, the practice of Hun Yuan Tai Chi is very enjoyable!

The Academy is proud to pass on this knowledge to you. Its instructors are dedicated to helping you gain the benefits that have made Tai Chi famous. Relaxation, a sense of well being, true freedom of movement and better health are all within your reach!

of Hun Yuan system) and his daughter Feng Xiu Qian.

Brett is the creator and presenter of the television series, “Let's Get Fit”, an innovative exercise program of 65 episodes, based on Tai Chi. This most popular program on Foxtel's Lifestyle channel is the first of its kind in Australia.

The Academy aims to offer its students the very best Tai Chi training at an affordable price.

WITH REGULAR PRACTICE, YOU CAN EXPECT THE FOLLOWING BENEFITS:

- stress relief
- greater strength, flexibility and true freedom of movement
- better balance resulting in falls prevention
- muscle toning
- improved posture and relief of back pain
- better circulation
- more energy and stamina
- smooth and deep breathing
- improved concentration and clearer thinking
- heightened general awareness
- a more youthful appearance
- relaxation, inner peace and joy

The Hun Yuan Tai Chi form, consisting of 24 movements, takes only 8 minutes to complete. Busy people can easily fit it into their lifestyles.

“The spiralling motions of the Hun Yuan style have relaxed my joints and strengthened muscles. I now have a suppleness of body that I cannot remember having before. I enjoy a calm mind and relaxed body. An arthritic shoulder condition has improved to the extent that the joint is fully mobile and there is no pain.” Richard, Retiree
